#TRENDINGNOW

In some cases the fashion trends reflect the mood of the public. In terms of popular clothes and accessories and in other cases fashion trends respond to changes in the public taste. Fashion trends in their essence are a reaction to the their transitory character. But whether in that particular fashion trend it is still being so one is likely to predict that it will come to an end. The emergence of designer houses is a clear manifestation of the demand that the society places for clothes continuously changing styles, roles.
